Blue Lagoon Beach Hotel

Some of two worlds

In the south east corner of Mauritius, and only ten minutes away from the airport, you can find the Blue Lagoon Beach Hotel set on the edge of Blue Bay Marine Park and the Old Grand Port Lagoon. A white sandy beach and the crystal clear turquoise waters of the Blue Bay adorn the hotel.

The bay harbours a wonderful snorkelling area and Nature Reserve. The hotel's location allows you to experience the better of two worlds: enjoy the beauty and tranquillity of Blue Bay and the liveliness of the historical village of Mahebourg which lays just a few minutes down the road.

The Blue Lagoon Beach Hotel which reopened in December 2004 after an extensive renovation, has improved its facilities. It now offers two categories of rooms. With the renovation the hotel services have moved up to a 3 star category but it has remained an official 2 star. And as far as prices are concerned, you are thereby offered real value for your money.

The main restaurant of Blue Lagoon Beach Hotel presents a vast range of culinary delights. The main dining room offers a buffet every night with themes ranging from Indian to traditional Mauritian and a beautiful view over the pool and the ocean.

The Blue Lagoon suits just about everybody's taste. Whether you like to simply relax and enjoy the sun while sipping a refreshing cocktail, or you want to take advantage of the beach activities and the full range of water sports available free of charge. Live music is provided by the resident band, dance shows with traditional Sega and Indian dances take place regularly.

Not far from the hotel you find Ile aux Aigrettes, a 5-hectare islet consisting of an old calcareous coral reef partially overlain by sand and soil deposits. It was declared a nature reserve in 1965. Many of the plants found there grow nowhere else in the world. The islet is now under the patronage of the WWF. Sightseeing tours are available and may be organised by the hotel.
